The District Council of Mount Remarkable was pleased to welcome so many visitors to the council area this June long weekend.

With covid-19 restrictions beginning to ease many enthusiastic travellers flocked to the Mount Remarkable area.

“It’s great to see businesses start to get busy again, and importantly it is great to see people choosing places like Melrose as their winter holiday destination” said Mayor Heaslip.

One camp ground alone was estimated to have some 750 people camping and enjoying the local surrounds.

“We welcome anyone anytime, and I am really pleased at just how well the place looks and how the people seemed happy to be in our area” said Mayor Heaslip.

The District Council of Mount Remarkable has just appointed a new Manager of Tourism & Community Development, Ebony Rodda, and this is a further illustration of the investment council is making to grow and support tourism in the area.
